In-Row Option

Craft Lite C-Series luminaires ship as Individual Units as standard policy!

When ordering C-Series Craft Lite® luminaires, help us process the order quickly by designating if these luminaires are mounting IN-ROW or as INDIVIDUAL units. Why do we need to know IN-ROW information when processing these orders? Paramount C-Series luminaires are manufactured with a continuously welded hub in the ends which provide a sealed wire way access. Therefore, they are NOT interchangeable in the field because the hub is welded in place and cannot be removed. By supplying ROW INFORMATION upon ordering, it will guarantee a timely delivery and allow the order to quickly move through our system.

The C-Series Craft Lite® In-Row option is a feature which separates Paramount from other competitors' luminaires. These specially designed luminaires have a unique, integral means of attaching consecutive luminaires utilizing aligner pins and plastic grommets. This method of attachment, along with a gasketed stainless steel joiner band, achieves the alignment and integrity of a single luminaire. Paramount recommends only surface mounting for the In-Row option.
